Social Justice and American Jews:

A Four-Session Series and Exhibition at Temple Rodef Shalom

From our republic's earliest years, from Selma to the nation's capital, Jewish values have played a key role in shaping U.S. civic society. Social justice and advocacy to fight injustice are key tenets of Reform Judaism. This series seeks to identify Jewish values and Jewish participation within arenas such as civil rights and social service activism. Participants will find ample opportunities for exploring and pursuing their own passion for social justice.

Voices of Vigil Exhibition

During February, TRS will display the Jewish Historical Society of Greater Washington's exhibition Voices of the Vigil: Documenting the Soviet Jewry Movement. This exhibition highlights our Washington, D.C.-area participation in the 1960s-70s movement to free Soviet Jews.

The U.S. Civil Rights Movement: Converging Jewish and American Values

Sunday, Jan. 31, 2-4 p.m

Ann F. Lewis

How do we see ourselves as Jews in the narrative of protest and action that continues to define civil rights activism in this country? What roles have Jewish values played in the civil rights movement of the 1950s through the present? How have Jewish values become part of American values? This roundtable will focus on the nexus of Jewish teachings, American ideals, and public perceptions of Jewish activism. The session begins with the religious teachings that drive some Jewish activists. The discussion then expands into portrayals of civil rights activism presented to us by artists, the media, and historians. Participants will learn tools for monitoring and fighting civil injustice as part of living life Jewishly. Featuring:

- Ann F. Lewis, Moment magazine Advisory Board. Discussion of her career as political strategist and commentator, including as White House Communications Director.
- James Deutsch, program curator at the Smithsonian Center for Folklife and Cultural heritage and film scholar. Highlights of Hollywood's portrayal of the Jewish role in civil rights 1950s-present.
- Eric Fusfield, Director of Legislative Affairs/Deputy Director of center for Human Rights and Public Policy, B'nai B'rith International. Trends in social justice activity in the Jewish world.

Jan. 31, Feb. 7, 14, 21 at 2 p.m.

Sunday Feb. 7, 2-4 p.m.

A black and white photograph showing a classroom scene. A female teacher with short, dark, curly hair is seated at the front of the room, smiling and looking towards a group of students. She is wearing a light-colored sweater. Several students are seated in front of her, some looking towards her. The room has brick walls, and there are posters on the wall behind the teacher. A desk with a lamp is visible in the background.

A brass balance scale with two pans, resting on a marble base. The scale is shown in a balanced state.

What Does the Talmud Say About Employment Law?

Jan. 13, 20, 7-8:15 p.m.

Instructor: Rabbi Alana Suskin

The rights of workers and the obligations of employees are issues we debate vigorously today. What does Judaism's view of communal responsibility tell us about fair labor? An exploration of classical texts revealing rabbinic attitudes towards the value of work, the role of community, and the necessity of limits to money in society.

Rabbi Alana Suskin is Managing Editor of Jewschool.com. She serves on the board of T'ruah: The Rabbinic Call for Human Rights and is director of strategic communications at Americans for Peace Now (see class on p. 6).

JSC, Adas members $25, others $35. Single sessions $15/$20

Guided Tour: Hebrew Printing in the Orient

Sunday, Jan. 24, 12 noon

Instructor: Brad Sabin Hill

Join members of the Jewish Study Center for a walking tour of the highly praised exhibit Hebrew Printing in the Orient, drawn from the acclaimed Judaica collections of George Washington University's Gelman Library. Curator Brad Sabin Hill will unfold the treasures of an exhibit that traces the introduction of movable type outside Europe by Jewish exiles from Spain, with examples from Istanbul, Salonika, Fez, Cairo and Tunis (including the first book printed in any language in Tunisia) and texts in Hebrew, Aramaic, Ladino, Yiddish, Judeo-Arabic and Judeo-Persian.

Meet at the the I. Edward Kiev Judaica Collection, Gelman Library

Join us for the Second Annual Tu B'Shevat Community Seder!

A festive event co-sponsored by Adas Israel, MakomDC and the Jewish Food Experience

Wednesday, Jan. 27 at 7 p.m

JSC, Adas members $20, others $30. Pre-registration required by Jan. 25.

Leaders: Rabbi Gilah Langner and Susan Barocas

Tu B'Shevat is known as the New Year of the Trees. The custom of holding a seder in conjunction with the holiday developed among 16th-century Jewish mystics and has enjoyed a revival in our modern world along with our growing awareness of the environment. This seder celebrates the four different seasons of the year, helping us attune to earth's rhythms and cycles, and connecting us to the Tree of Life on a spiritual level.

Join us at our lively second JSC Tu B'Shevat Seder for some learning, discussion, and a mystical tasting of the foods of Tu B'Shevat. The holiday is traditionally observed by eating a new fruit and the seven species—wheat, barley, figs, dates (honey), pomegranates, grapes (vines) and olives. These are the foods that the Hebrews found in abundance in the land of Israel after 40 years of wandering in the desert.

Gilah Langner is a rabbi, educator, and meditation leader at the Jewish Mindfulness Center of Washington at Adas Israel. Susan Barocas is a writer, filmmaker, cooking teacher, caterer and former director of the Jewish Food Experience and the Washington Jewish Film Festival.

This event is supported by a grant from the Jewish Food Experience, a program of the Jewish Federation of Greater Washington (<http://jewishfoodexperience.com>).

Text Study: A Storyteller Looks at Exodus

Feb. 3, 10, 17, 24 at 7 p.m.

Instructor: Bob Rovinsky

This four-week class will cover the basic themes of the book of Exodus (in Hebrew Shemot, or Names) using classic rabbinic, midrashic, and contemporary interpretations. The first session will introduce midrash, or text study through storytelling; the second week we will look at the legends and themes of Exodus stories, including the Haggadah and Passover Seder; the third week will focus on deeper studies using midrash, mystical tales, psychological and modernist themes; and the fourth week will offer other approaches to the stories of Exodus, including ways in which Exodus can speak to you and through you.

Bob Rovinsky has been a long-time teacher at, and former President of, the Jewish Study Center and has taught many classes including Basic Judaism, Jewish storytelling, and dealing with grief and loss. He is an active member of the Fabrangen Havurah and several other congregations.

Series: New Perspectives on Today's Israel

Feb. 10--Book Talk: Return to Zion: The History of Modern Israel

7 p.m.

In this book talk and slide show, author Eric Gartman will focus on some lesser-known events leading up to the creation of the State of Israel and its subsequent development. We will discuss the pogroms in Russia, the role of Britain in setting up the Mandate, the real reasons why the Holocaust was so important in creating the Jewish State, and newly-declassified documents explaining America's policy towards Israel in the 1967 and 1973 Wars.

Eric Gartman works as an intelligence analyst for the US Department of Defense. Return to Zion: The History of Modern Israel was published in November by the Jewish Publication Society and will be available for sale.

Feb. 17—Peace and the Two-State Solution—Challenges and Opportunities

7 p.m.

Rabbi Alana Suskin, director of strategic communications at Americans for Peace Now, offers a perspective on recent events in Israel and on how, and whether, they change the status and the approach of efforts for peace.

Both sessions: Adas, JSC members $25, others $35. Single session $15/$20

Book Talk: Exiles in Sepharad: The Jewish Millennium in Spain by Jeffrey Gorsky.

Feb. 24, 7 p.m.

This book, published in 2015 by the Jewish Publication Society, traces the colorful history of Jews in Spain from the beginnings up until the horrors of the Inquisition and expulsion. Jeffrey Gorsky, a career State Department attorney who served in Spain and Iberia, has taught many well-received and popular classes about the Inquisition for the Jewish Study Center. His book will be available for sale.

Poems of the New Holocaust

March 2 and 9, 8:15 p.m.

Instructor: Eric Rozenman

The class will take as a launching point several of the instructor's own recently published Holocaust-themed poems, among them "The World as We Know It" from the online New English Review (www.newenglishreview.org). Students will be encouraged to bring in other texts on similar themes and to discuss the works as poems, as forecasts and as "anti-prayer."

Eric Rozenman is Washington director of CAMERA (Committee for Accuracy in Middle East Reporting in America). His poetry has been published in the New English Review and elsewhere.

Beyond Hamentashen: Sephardic Flavors for Purim

March 9, 7 p.m.

Instructor: Susan Barocas

Expand your thinking as Purim approaches! Everyone loves hamentashen, but in this class you'll learn about many more sweet and savory Purim treats from Sephardic communities around the world. For Syrian Jews, a favorite is mamoul, a cookie stuffed with dates and/or nuts. Fried dough called Haman's Ears, Orejas de Haman in Spanish or Oznei Haman in Hebrew, are a favorite across Sephardic cultures. Many recipes use poppy seeds or nuts, recalling our heroine Esther's vegetarian—and therefore, kosher—diet while in the palace. Our class includes tastes of some treats, including a special holiday "mocktail," and recipes to take home for your own Purim delight.

Susan Barocas is a writer, filmmaker, cooking teacher, caterer and former director of the Jewish Food Experience and the Washington Jewish Film Festival.

How to be a Master Storyteller

March 9, 7 p.m.

Instructor: Jay Krasnow

Storytelling is one of life's most powerful gifts. Good leaders are always good storytellers; history's greatest leaders were all masters of the art. More important, storytelling is a receptacle for personal and family memories, from remembrances of a cranky uncle to deeply personal experiences with your best friends or first loves. Learn the elements of weaving an effective tale!

Jay Krasnow has performed at storytelling venues across the area, including SpeakEasyDC, the Story League and the Perfect Liars Club. His current project includes a series of oral histories about his mother, who grew up in New Haven, Ct., not far from where "Old Man Lender" sold Lender's Bagels out of his basement.

Feb. 23, 7:30-9 p.m.

Lomir Ale Zingen*: Yiddish Sing-Along
and Poetry Evening with Rabbi David Shneyer

Feb. 23, 7:30-9 p.m.

A Yiddish singalong with Reb David Shneyer as bandleader! The program Lomir Ale Zingen (Let Us All Sing) is part of a series of monthly evenings of Yiddish song and poetry at different locations, including private homes and area synagogues—including an upcoming April 17 date at Adas Israel. These intimate gatherings include Yiddish poetry in the original and in translation.

Sponsored by the Am Kolel Jewish Renewal Community and cosponsored by the Jewish Study Center and the National Museum of American Jewish Military History, the program is partly underwritten by a grant from the Marinus and Mina B. Koster Foundation, devoted to the perpetuation of East European Jewish culture.

Reb David Shneyer is the founder and spiritual leader of The Am Kolel Jewish Renewal Community of Greater Washington.

Class Cancellation Policies

Weather-Related Cancellations

Classes may be canceled for the following reasons:

- The building is closed due to inclement weather.
- The teacher cannot make it to the class due to inclement weather.
- The teacher cannot make it to the class due to illness.

The easiest way to see if a class is canceled to inclement weather is to call the building where your class will be held:

Adas Israel Synagogue: (202) 362-4433, www.adasisrael.org, 2850 Quebec St. NW

DCJCC, 1529 16th St., NW

National Museum of American Jewish Military History, (202) 265-6280

If a class is canceled due to teacher illness we will notify you as soon as possible. Class sessions canceled due to weather will be rescheduled as soon as possible and when possible at the same place, time and day of the week as the original session. For information about rescheduled class sessions, refunds or other matters, please call (202) 332-1221 or message the Study Center at info@jewishstudycenter.org.

Enrollment-Related Cancellations

We request that you pre-register and pre-pay for the classes so we can inform you of any potential changes to the class. If there are no pre-registrations 24 hours before a class, that class may be canceled.

If fewer than five students show up for a class's first session, the instructor has the option of canceling the class after waiting 15 minutes. (However, many instructors choose to proceed.) If your class is canceled due to under-enrollment prior to the first session, we will make every effort to inform you if you have signed up. Cancellations will also be posted on our web site. All advance cancellations will be posted by 12 pm the day of a scheduled program.

We suggest you check our web site after 12 pm the day of your program to confirm your course status.
